Speaker Biographies

Dr Mary Canning

Mary Canning is a Principal with Epidarex Capital; a venture fund investing in early-stage, high growth life science companies in the UK and US. Epidarex focuses on under-ventured regions with excellent science, working with universities and entrepreneurs to build ground-breaking companies from scratch. Prior to joining Epidarex, she had 8 years of experience in the commercialization of early-stage health science technologies. As a Business Manager with The Medical Research Council Technology (MRCT) she was responsible for the exploitation of intellectual property arising from a number of MRC Units. She previously worked with the Scottish Enterprise Proof of Concept Programme, building and funding spin-out companies from leading Scottish academic institutions. Mary has a Ph.D. in molecular biology from the University of Edinburgh.

Megan Briggs

Megan is an Associate in Burness Paull's Dispute Resolution team working in the contentious IP and Technology practice. Megan advises on disputes concerning patents, trade marks, software, design rights, copyright and confidential information and regularly acts for clients in the Court of Session. Megan has appeared on BBC Radio Scotland discussing recent intellectual property/brand protection developments and news stories. Megan sits on the IP Inclusive Women in IP committee and regularly hosts and attends events regarding the diversity and inclusion of professionals within the intellectual property profession. She is highly regarded for her IP work and was described by clients in Managing IP 2018 as: "diligent" with "great attention to detail" and noted as a "rising star" in 2019.

Paul Scullion

Paul is a Senior Associate in the Corporate Finance team at leading commercial law firm Burness Paull. He has over a decade's experience of venture capital transaction, whether that be advising some of Scotland's most prolific investors on their investments into start-up or scale-up businesses, or advising exciting and innovative Scottish technology companies on their fundraising processes. He also has substantial experience advising on company sales and acquisitions, including exits to major multinational buyers. He was named an "Associate to Watch" in the 2019 Chambers rankings.

Phil Hall

Craig Allan
